An IDENTITY All Our OWN

Personifying our theme perfectly, seniors Al Faulk, Rick Sizemore, Abel Torres, Chad McDaniel, Pat Zimmerman, and Ben Wills prove that they are the rowdiest at the State Championship basketball game against Stratford.

With a sound unique to Mount de Sales, seniors Linda Horan and Courtney Carey honor our black heritage during Black History Week.

Acting Goofy (or is it Huey?), Brandy Ciaccia and Aimee Mizell imitate their favorite Disney characters on Dress-up Day during Homecoming Week.

Magic at MDS

Homecoming at Mt. de Sales Academy is an event that all students, faculty and alumni look forward to. Even teachers get involved in helping students prepare the hall decorations with much dedication and hard work. The memorable jingle M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E resounded through the halls of MDS as the theme of "MDS Magic Kingdom" was introduced to the student body. The week started off in a calm but mystical atmosphere as the senior boys portrayed their own version of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. During this skit, the senior boys introduced the 1992 Homecoming Court which included Leslie Weston, Mandy Smith, Jennifer Joyner, Yvette Perez, Aimee Mizell, and Christa Timms. This year, for the first time at Mount de Sales, the court also included candidates for Homecoming King. Senior boys nominated included Mark Devenney, Ben Wills, Kevin McTier, Chad McDaniel, Sam Jolley, and Rick Sizemore. The activities for the week centered around class lunches, dress-up day and, of course, skit night and bonfire. Sophomore Jeanie Dizon remarked, "I thought it was really hilarious when Mr. Vullo beat the seniors in the tricycle race during the Olympics held at the Homecoming pep rally." In order to promote school spirit, each class received a certain number of points for total class participation. Once again, this year's senior class won the overall greatest number of points for the week's activities. When asked how she felt about Homecoming activities, senior Endia Cook stated, "I really enjoyed it. Each year the school spirit increases and you can see 'it' throughout the school." The MDS football team made everyone proud with its decisive victory over George Walton Academy. During the halftime festivities, Aimee Mizell was crowned queen, and at the dance later that night Chad McDaniel was crowned king. During the dance, students enjoyed the music of an area DJ. When asked how she felt about Homecoming, Aimee Mizell stated, "The whole week went well. I wasn't expecting to be crowned. It was a big surprise!" Most of the students who attended the dance really enjoyed just being around their friends and dancing to their favorite music. The seniors especially made the best of everything since it was their last Homecoming. Due to everyone's dedicated participation, this Homecoming was a spirited success.

Day of Remembrance

Mercy Day is an MDS tradition. This year's Mercy Day assembly was enlivened by a "Sister Act" starring Sr. Rosina, Sr. Geraldyne, Sr. Joan, Sr. Helen, and Sr. Karen. The sisters danced and lip synced to "My Guy". " 'Sister Act' was my favorite part of the assembly," said junior Rachel Jones. " It was hilarious!" In addition to the "Sister Act", the assembly consisted of a combination of music, narration, and silhouette. Student speakers read passages about the history of Mother Catherine McAuley, the Sisters of Mercy, and Mt. de Sales. The MDS chorus sang songs relating to the events being spoken of in the narration. Throughout the program, scenes from the narration were shown in a shadow show on the stage. The purpose of the Mercy Day Assembly is to teach the students about the heritage of MDS and the Sisters of Mercy. Sr. Helen organized the assembly with the "hope that the members of today's student body would come to know and love and appreciate the Sisters of Mercy and Mt. de Sales as much as I do."

Sr. Karen, Sr. Geraldyne, Sr. Helen, Sr. Rosina, and Sr. Joan gather for a picture on Mercy Day.

Moderator Karen Hammack introduces the next candidate of debate.

The mud-slinging in this year's Presidential Debate left many people relieved that the election had finally come to an end.

Decisions, Decisions . . .

This year Mt. de Sales students were treated to their very own Presidential Debate hosted by the Foreign Relations class. Freshmen Blair Meyer said, "This debate was special because it involved the Mt. de Sales students and focused on the positive issues that affected us." Each candidate was allowed two minutes to deliver an opening statement and two minutes to answer questions, which ranged from the economy to foreign policy. "This debate was very well prepared. All candidates were given the same amount of time to respond to each question," said junior Abbott Frank. The candidates were represented by three seniors. Al Faulk represented George Bush; Ben Wills represented Bill Clinton; and Kevin McTier represented Ross Perot. The moderator, senior Karen Hammack, controlled the debate. When asked what she thought of the Presidential Debate, junior Lisa Sinksen said, "I thought the Presidential Debates were a good way of informing the student body of the three main political platforms without all of the negative campaigning." The Presidential Debate gave MDS students the opportunity to become informed about the issues that will shape our country's future for the next four years.

A Season of Joy

The Candlelight Carol Service is one of Mt. de Sales' most beautiful and moving Christmas traditions. Held every year, this special event allows everyone in the Mt. de Sales family to come together and reflect upon the significance of Christ's birth and the meaning of this special occurrence in their lives. The Candlelight Carol Service is a cherished part of Mt. de Sales' unique heritage that includes a blending of school spirit and religious devotion; everyone can participate regardless of his or her religious denomination. This event arouses strong emotions from all students at Mt. de Sales, but it is especially important to the seniors, as they are the traditional leaders of the service.

This year's service, which was organized by Sr. Helen, included Christmas carols sung by the chorus and Bible stories about the very first Christmas, which were read by senior lectors. St. Joseph's Catholic Church provided a breathtaking backdrop for this holy occasion, especially during the part of the service when the candles provided the only light. The church was extremely beautiful lit up only by candlelight.

Freshman Candiss Williams commented, "The candles made the church very pretty. It was a nice service, and I really enjoyed it." One of the most memorable events for the seniors in this year's Candlelight Carol Service was when chorus director Mrs. Donna Washburn's grade book fell from the choir loft in the middle of the service. "It was very humorous, but it did not destroy the religious atmosphere of the service," remarked junior Zalika Sapp.

The Candlelight Carol Service was a beautiful way for everyone at Mt. de Sales to join together and share in the love of the holiday season. Everyone who came to the Candlelight Carol Service was enveloped by this warmth and caring. The most moving part of the service, the lighting of the candles, was an appropriate symbol of the love and hope that was shared by everyone present. In the words of sophomore Christy Price, the Candlelight Carol Service "was spiritually uplifting. It was truly a moment to cherish." Indeed, everyone who was present at the Candlelight Carol Service will "cherish" the experience for a lifetime.

Chorus members Taffi Gross, Bobbie Jo Rape, Aimee Ridings, and Candiss Williams sing "Silent Night" at the Candlelight Carol Service as candles were lit throughout St. Joseph's Church.

With a devout expression on his face, senior altar boy Mark Devenney leads the other altar boys and the seniors in the traditional procession around the church.

Senior Brandy Ciaccia reads a Biblical selection telling about the events surrounding the birth of Christ.

Justin Joines, Myke Epps, Hanz Cabasares, Sam Jolley, and Craig Rentz enjoy punch, cookies, and companionship in the social hall following the service.

April Goodman and Brian DeMichiel reflect upon the meaning of Christmas while they gaze at their candles.

The altar is ablaze with light and brightly decorated with red poinsettias and green magnolia leaves as Father Cuddy says a prayer at the service and the altar boys look on with interest.

"In the candlelight the church was made even more beautiful."

Jingle Bell Rock

This year's Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Student Council, was a semi-formal occasion which gave students an escape from the casual Christmas Dance. The evening's highlight was the election of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Chad McDaniel and Leslie Weston. Leslie Weston commented, "It feels really good to have been picked for Ms. Claus." The band, The Root Doctors, was asked to make a repeat performance after their act at last year's prom. "They were really good because of their ability to play a wide variety of music, so everybody was pleased," said sophomore Dana Dehart. It was evident that a lot of hard work had been put into preparing for this dance. According to junior Nikki Shih, "The decorations gave the dance an uplifting atmosphere." Everyone seemed to enjoy the evening and had a wonderful time.

Leslie Weston and Chad McDaniel proudly display their Mr. and Mrs. Claus "crowns."

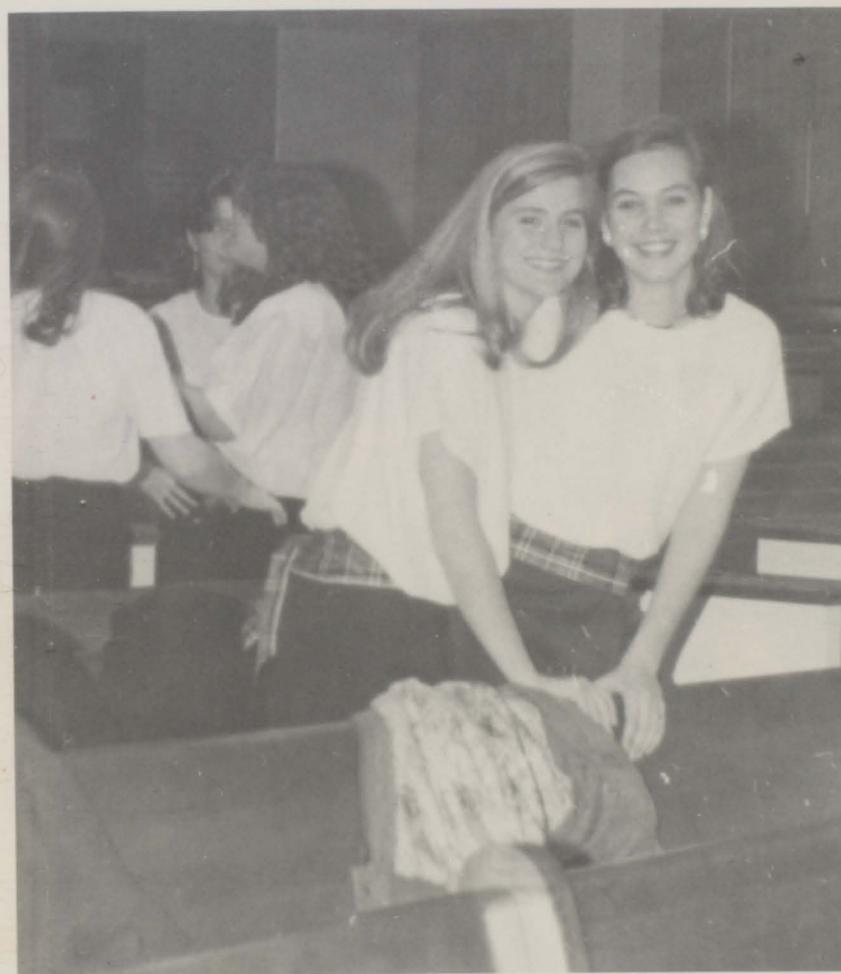

Mt. de Sales students rocked the night away to the beats of the infamous band known as "The Root Doctors".

Mrs. Washburn prepares the Choraliers to make sure that everything is perfect for the panel of judges. Correct posture and happy faces are a must.

Seniors Courtney Carey and Aimee Mizell give two gorgeous smiles after hearing that the Cavalier Choraliers had received a superior rating.

Singing to the Top

Over the past six years, Mt. de Sales has had the privilege of enjoying a very talented chorus. Since that time, part of the chorus' yearly activities has been its participation in the Georgia Music Educators Association Choral Festival. This annual event sponsors high schools from around the Central Georgia area. The program started by allotting enough time for each group to warm-up. Following the rehearsal time the chorus performed in front of a panel of three judges who not only gave scores to rank the group, but also critiqued the performance, which helped the chorus to improve in certain areas and to continue doing well in others. Sight reading, which measures the ability of the group to read notes on the spot without having previously studied them, was the final event of the competition. The Choraliers received a superior one rating from each judge in this area and also for their performance. Mrs. Washburn commented, "The chorus looked wonderful and the performance was one of their best! It was the first time we ever made straight ones and I'm proud of them." Senior Jason Todd commented, "We all love Mrs. Washburn and appreciate everything she does for us."

Proud Traditions

The theme for this year's Catholic Schools Week was "Choose Catholic Schools : The Good News in Education." Catholic Schools Week began with a school-wide prayer service led by Sister Geraldine. Prior to the service, each student received a biblical quote. Then, meditating on their quotes, the students formed prayer circles around the gym, setting the spiritual tone for the week. Thursday was Student Appreciation Day, and the week ended with Teacher Appreciation Day. When asked about Catholic Schools Week, senior Erika Green commented, "This Catholic Schools Week not only brought the school together, but it also brought the senior class together." Catholic Schools Week makes Mt. de Sales students think about the education and values that are taught to them and other Catholic school students around the world.

Mr. Mermann expresses his thanks to students on Teacher Appreciation Day.

Seniors Melissa Raffield and Kevin Simmons give a hand shake as a sign of the peace desired among all people.

Sr. Geraldine proves that she can pose for a picture and still get all her work done.

Junior Michelle Blay prepares for competition through a private meditation session with her Trigonometry book. DO NOT BEWARE OF BOOK, BEWARE OF OWNER!!

Obviously this team of mathematicians has everything under control. Each Math Team exhibited brilliant talent during the timed 'math workouts' held in the library during Math Day.

Dedication is the key! Juniors Katie McCaren and Rachel Jones work hard to complete "math munchies".

Fatal Subtraction

Group problems, "math munchies", and team spirit added up to a whole lot of fun on Math Day. Held on January 22, 1993, this annual event provided an opportunity for Mt. de Sales' mathematically inclined students to get together and spend the day trying to solve completely mind-boggling math problems. The day began with an hour long test in the cafeteria. Following the test, everyone joined their teammates for lunch and "math munchies", Mr. Midkiff and Coach Garvin's infamous brain teasers. The day ended with rounds of competitive problems in the library. The problems ranged from simple arithmetic to calculus, so students from every math level were able to participate. Junior Matt Hickey, member of the winning team led by captain Ben Wills, had only one thing to say about the competition, "We came, we saw, we conquered." Everyone who was involved in this event, regardless of whether or not their team won, thoroughly enjoyed the experience and is looking forward to next year's mathematical challenge.

A Part of our Heritage

During this year's Black History week, which had the theme "Black Pilgrimage," an assembly was held in order to stress that black history is American history. The guest speaker was Judge W. Louis Sands. Junior Kendall Reid enjoyed Judge Sands' speech and commented, "It was very intriguing because a black guy was inspiring us with his knowledge." Junior Avril Cobb performed the "Tomato Dance" from the Broadway musical "The Wiz". Sr. Rosina made a tribute to Dr. Bobby Jones, who had been a special friend to Mt. de Sales. The week was also celebrated by a board which displayed art created by students. Junior Elena Hall "enjoyed the Black History Assembly and the message Judge Sands delivered, however (she) feels that Mt. de Sales should do more to celebrate Black History Month."

The Honorable Judge Louis Sands reflects on America as a "melting pot" that includes everyone.

The chorus' dynamic singing during the program added to the richness of the hymns.

Mr. Michael Dunaway was one of the three judges that chose the winners of Oral Interpretation.

These students placed in the Oral Interpretation competition held at MDS. Alternates were Erin Gilbert and Clayton Donaldson. First place were Yolanda Taylor and David Skinner.

Junior Yolanda Taylor took first place in the girls oral interpretation with a piece from "Here We Are".

Stronger Than Ever

Literary Day was a success once again. Held on February 23, 1993, this annual event included several areas of competition: Critical Essay, Personal Essay, Extemporaneous Speaking, Spelling, Trio, Solo, Quartet, Piano, and Oral Interpretation.

One event, Oral Interpretation, was held in front of the student body. Each participant was required to read a literary work of his or her choice and was judged on his or her dramatic interpretation of the selected piece. The winners of this competition were Yolanda Taylor and David Skinner, with alternates Erin Gilbert and Clayton Donaldson. Both the winners and the alternates went on to compete at the Region Literary Tournament held at Wesleyan College. During this competition Mt. de Sales won first or second place in all events. The Cavaliers went to State Literary competition at Armstrong State College in Savannah, where they brought home yet another state title.

In the words of junior Shana Alverson, winner of both Girl's Solo and Girl's Trio, "Literary Day was a fun (and) successful day." Both the competitors and the spectators agreed that this year's Literary Day was one of the best in recent years.

Small Wonders

The middle school has its own unique identity and its own unique traditions. This year the students shared many experiences that left them with a special sense of unity and friendship. "We all stick together," said eighth grader Cory O'Brien. "There aren't any conflicts between middle schoolers." Seventh grader Lisa Reeves agrees, "I like it (the middle school) a lot. We have a really good class." Several events, including a Christmas Party, Middle School Math Day, Grandparent's Day, and a St. Patrick's Day Party, were held throughout the year. These events were all "really good", said seventh grader Jessica Jones. "I went to all of the parties and had a great time." Grandparent's Day was probably the most memorable of these events because it gave the eighth graders a chance to show their love and appreciation for their grandparents and other special loved ones in their lives. Grandparent's Day is a special tradition that the eighth grade class has had for many years. This year's Grandparent's Day, held on February 12, was truly a wonderful day. Voicing the opinion of all of those who were involved in this very special occasion, eighth grader Wendy Wise said, "Grandparent's Day was really a terrific day."

Many of the eighth graders are looking forward to graduating into high school, while many seventh graders can't wait to move into the eighth grade, where they will no longer be the youngest class in the school. Cory O'Brien said, "Although I really liked this year, it will be good to not be a 'little ol' middle schooler', as the high schoolers put it, anymore." On the whole, however, the middle schoolers agree that St. Joseph's Hall was a great place to be this year. Some of the words most often used to describe this special part of Mt. de Sales are "loud", "funny", "exciting", "interesting", and "different". Middle School is an important place, where friendships are formed and students get their first taste of what life in high school will be like. This year middle school life was especially great. Between the special events and parties that were held, the awards such as Student of the Month, the special organizations such as the National Junior Honor Society, and the day to day activities of the students, the middle schoolers had a year that they will never forget.

Mike McAuley and Chris Grifford decide to stop and take a picture before they begin their long awaited snack break of the day.

dar Meal held on Holy Thursday.

Who Laughs Last?

Mt. de Sales students always enjoy the break from the normal Friday night entertainment of movies and popcorn. Fun Night 1993 was just the event to break the norm. Fun Night brings out the school spirit in everyone. When asked about fun night, senior Nikki Kelley commented, "The spirit of each class is what makes fun night so . . . FUN!!!!"

Class competition doesn't adversely affect the fun that students experience. The competitive events include the infamous potato roll, the over-under egg relay, class pyramids, dress-a-boy-dress-a-girl, football relay and the final event of the evening, the tug-of-war. The middle school has a competition that includes the same events but is scored independently. This year the eighth graders accumulated the most points. In the high school category the Senior class continued a long tradition of not only competing in good spirits, but also winning. Junior Chauryce Brooks commented, "A lot of the competitions were very close, especially the tug-of-war, but it's all so fun you don't worry about it. Next year I'm sure that my class will claim the undefeated title."

One of the best things about Fun Night this year was that it took place the night after the third quarter report cards had been given out. The evening gave students a chance to release all the academic stress that had built-up throughout the quarter. The attendance of each class, which is a portion of the possible points needed to win, was affected due to report cards. Junior Lashanna Farley commented, "I know most of the junior class didn't show up due to their grades, but that's a part of life."

Overall, Fun Night 1993 allowed each class the opportunity to get to know each other better. The evening gave Mt. de Sales students, faculty and parents the chance to bond in a Cavalier spirit that has prevailed through McAuley Hall in the past and will continue to prevail in the future.

Mr. Midkiff, Coach Garvin and Mr. Dockrell seem to be enjoying Fun Night 1993 as much as the students.

Discovering New Worlds

Every spring the foreign language department holds Foreign Language Week to promote awareness of foreign languages. This year's Foreign Language Week consisted of various activities, including a poster contest, a display of projects in the library, and competitive testing. "A working knowledge of foreign languages is very important in today's world," explains Mrs. Jackie Fry, head of the Spanish department. "Here at Mt. de Sales, we try to emphasize that fact and encourage our students to continue with their study of foreign languages and to grow in their awareness of other cultures." Foreign Language Week helps students to achieve these goals in a fun way. "I learned a lot and hope to learn more in the future," commented Shannon Wagner. It is a wonderful experience for all involved.

French III student Wendi Lester enjoys playing French Scrabble for Foreign Language Week.

Mrs. Skinner shows dedication to foreign language everyday as a French III and IV teacher.

Junior Jared Downs just might be considering defending his country after graduation as he tours an Army museum in Charleston, South Carolina during his Easter break.

Give Me A Break

Easter Break is a time when Mt. de Sales students, faculty and administration take a rest from the hectic jobs of meeting deadlines and tying up loose ends before the holidays. One of the most important things to remember about Easter Break is that we are celebrating the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. Keeping this in mind most students not only enjoy fun and games, but they also have a spiritual feeling to guide them through the week. As always, some students went to Panama City, while others went to Daytona Beach in Florida. Junior Katherine McCarren commented, "The best thing about the beach is that it relaxes you. The sand feels great between your toes." Prior to the break, a few Mt. de Sales seniors participated in the annual Passion Play held on Palm Sunday at St. Joseph's Church. This year David Skinner played the role of Jesus. David commented, "It was quite an honor to play Jesus — but it was actually frightening to be out in front of the whole church on that old wooden cross!" Easter Break is a wonderful time of the year to re-group and come back to school energized, prepared for the conclusion of the academic year.

Making Magic

Every year the members of the junior class work together to create one of the most magical evenings of the school year: the prom. This year was no exception. The juniors worked tirelessly to present an unforgettable night for the graduating class. Everyone involved in the preparation of the prom had a wonderful time. "I enjoyed working with my classmates," said Will Hinshaw. "It was interesting to see the other side of my teachers." The juniors spent innumerable hours laboring to transform the gym into the enchanted realm of the Arabian Nights. Kevin DeMichiel said, "We worked very, very hard and I think we did a good job on the prom." Rachel Jones agreed, "It was a lot of hard work, but I think it was worth it because everything turned out wonderfully on prom night."

Students, teachers and parents all contributed a great deal to make the prom a success. Mr. McLachlan led the brave team of workers in the struggle to get every last detail perfect before prom night. Many students enjoyed working with Mr. McLachlan and the other teachers. "I never knew that Mr. McLachlan could be so funny! Working on the prom was lots of fun," said Ben Branch. The junior homeroom moderators, Mr. Midkiff, Mrs. Robbins, Mrs. Dohn and Mr. Dunaway, also helped things fall in place. Melanie Union enjoyed working on the prom with her teachers. She said, "I had a lot of fun. You learned a lot of interesting things at the prom workshops."

The work was difficult, but all who helped felt the special bond of friendship and class spirit that only working together can form. Joycelyn Stevenson commented, "Although the days were long, the work was hard, and the preparations were a struggle, it was an experience that I will always treasure." It is the sincere hope of this year's junior class that the future juniors will receive the same satisfaction that they did from completing such a difficult task with such beautiful results.

"Aren't we through yet?" David Tyre supervises at a prom workshop as Rebecca Pischke creates the colorful magic lamps that were used for the date walls.

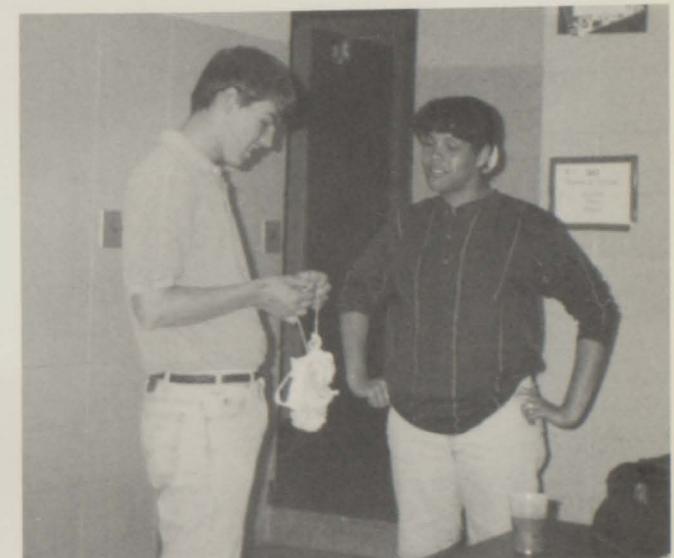

A magic carpet created by Yolanda Taylor and Joycelyn Stevenson dazzlingly displays the school initials while it is hanging out to dry.

An Arabian Night

Prom Night 1993 is one event that will never be forgotten by anyone who attended. The theme for the evening was "Arabian Nights", and the decorations transformed the gym into an enchanted land of genies, magic carpets, majestic elephants, and glittering towers. "The scenery of the prom made you feel as if you were in Arabia," said senior Brandi Blanks. "My friends and I had a wonderful time dancing to The Rhinoceros at this year's Junior/Senior. I couldn't have hoped for a more fantastic prom night."

Held on April 3, this year's prom was a magical evening composed of good music, great dancing, and elegant clothing. Senior Clayton Donaldson commented, "I thought it was a really nice prom. I thought that the juniors did a really good job." Lead-out began at 9:00 p.m., and many of the revelers stayed at the prom until nearly midnight. The entertainment was provided by The Rhinoceros, a band who was chosen by the members of the junior class. Junior Windy Lester enjoyed the band, saying, "I had a groovy time doing the Windy-Batman dance."

Everyone who went to the prom had a wonderful time. Sophomore Becky Sizemore said, "I had a great time. The decorations were gorgeous, and you could tell that the juniors spent a lot of time preparing for this evening. It was a lot of fun to be with all of my friends." That is what the evening was all about: fun and friendship. Prom Night was a beautiful experience for everyone who was involved. Senior Aimee Mizell commented, "This year's prom was really great. I had a wonderful time, and so did all of my friends. It is a night that I will always treasure." Everyone who went to this year's prom said that they would never forget that magical night. The spirit of the prom was one of enchanted happiness. The decorations, the music, and the gorgeous attire of the prom-goers all added up to an unforgettable Arabian Night.

"We're here!" Joy Sams and her date Joe Kusar arrive at the prom in style.

An Arabian palace provided a breathtaking backdrop for lead-out.

Can we stop smiling yet? Although seniors Aimee Mizell, Courtney Carey, and Jennifer Joyner love their beautiful bouquets, they can't wait to put them down and get out on the dance floor to dance the night away with their dates.

Ummmm! That sure was good! Junior Melanie Koch and her date Joey Cranford relax after a wonderful dinner before they head off to the fun and excitement of this year's Junior/Senior prom.

So happy together! Even after the long months, weeks, days, hours, and minutes that Erin Gilbert and Susannah Hughes put into making this year's prom a success, they are still all smiles on the night of the grand event.

“The Junior/Senior was beautiful and everyone enjoyed it.”

Jennifer Joyner

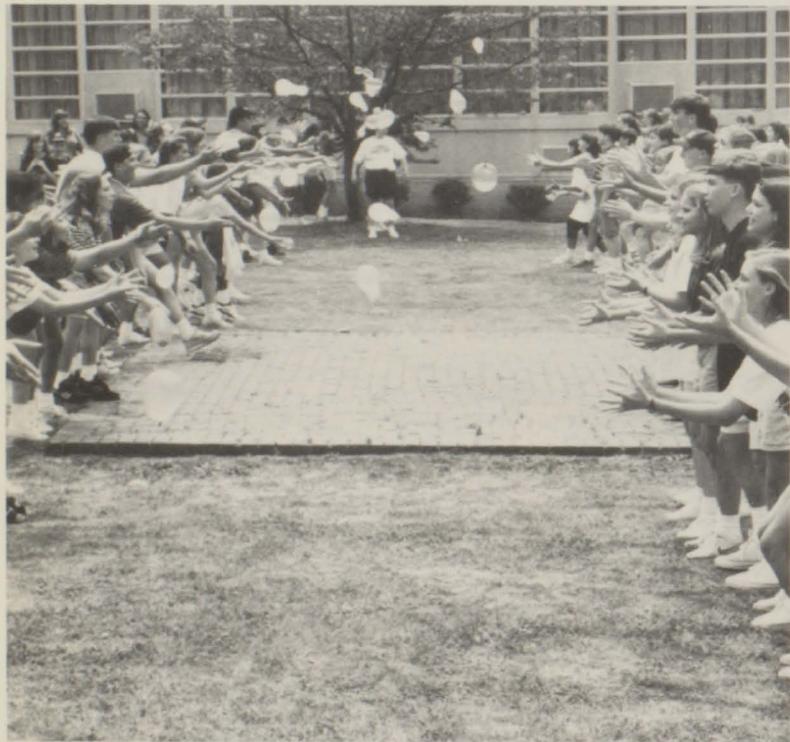

Be careful, don't fall! Hanz Cabasares and his date Elizabeth Brewer carefully make their way down the stairs during the highlight of the prom: Senior lead-out.

Positive Point of View

This year, the traditional Positive Attitude Week was condensed into a new Positive Attitude Day. Held on April 30, this day-long event showed the unique ability of Mt. de Sales students to squeeze a whole lot of fun into a short period of time. Junior Lisa Sinksen commented, "Positive Attitude Day was great. There were so many activities for the students that it was impossible not to have a positive attitude." This year's activities included a water balloon toss, a talent show, a volleyball tournament, class retreats, and the infamous best legs contest. Rev. Joe McDaniel honored MDS with an inspirational presentation discussing the rewards of having a positive outlook on life. This year's Positive Attitudes Day was a wonderful day filled with fun activities that made everyone's outlook positive.

Say cheeze! Several smiling seniors take a break from the excitement of Positive Attitude Day.

Run for cover! Participants in the water balloon toss throw their balloons across the trapezoid to their partners.

Sing it again, Todd! Senior Todd Freeman sings a country ballad for the talent show.

"What happens to a dream deferred?" Avril Cobb reads a poem by Langston Hughes as a devotion for the prayer service.

Books, representing scholastics, are offered as symbolic gifts by David Tyre and Jody Yarbrough during the prayer service.

This is it! Lisa Sinksen receives the blessing marking the official start of her senior year.

Movin' On Up

It has long been a Mt. de Sales tradition for the juniors to officially step into the shoes of the departing seniors in a ceremony known as Moving Up Day. This year's Moving Up Day, held on May 27, marked the official beginning of the leadership role the junior class would take as the seniors of Mt. de Sales Academy. Moving Up Day began with an underclassmen honors ceremony held in the gym, followed by a prayer service, which was organized entirely by the junior class. It was during this prayer service that the juniors officially became seniors through a blessing given by Father Cuddy. After the Moving Up Day ceremony, the new seniors were allowed to have the rest of the day off in order to celebrate their new status as leaders of the school. "I can't believe that I am finally a senior!" said Joy Donnell. "I have waited so long for this day." The senior year is considered by many to be the most important year in a student's high school career. For the newly risen seniors, Moving Up Day was the official start of what will be one of the most memorable times of their lives.

A TIME FOR REFLECTION

Why would any senior want to miss our school's annual senior retreat? This year's retreat took place at Holy Spirit Catholic Church. It was the senior's last chance to come together to have fun by reflecting, sharing, and praying with one another. The activities that were organized for the day began at nine o'clock that morning. There was a prayer service in the church that gave seniors the opportunity to share spiritual thoughts, as well as to reflect. "I thought that the prayer service was spiritually moving — it was a chance for me to reflect on how God has blessed me," said Rhonda Howard.

There was also a time for seniors to eat and have fun in the church's picnic area. Seniors shared in a pizza lunch that was paid for by the alumni of MDS. The real fun came when seniors competed in the team games tournament, which allowed them to engage in last minute bonding. Some of the games included carrying an egg in a spoon, making a human self-functioning machine, and the infamous over-under egg relay. "I thought it was really funny when the egg burst all over Michelle Thomas," said Kim Finney.

The ending activities were held in the church's sanctuary, where the seniors focused on the day's activities while listening to their class theme song. It was hard to believe that a day filled with so much fun had ended so quickly. The seniors immediately began to realize that their final days of getting to know more about each other were ending. Recalling the retreat, Kathy Kendall stated, "The senior retreat gave people the chance to open up and be themselves. It created memories that I will always cherish."

FRIENDS FOREVER

Friends April Whitaker and Laura Nackashi enjoy punch and refreshments. They are decked out in holiday attire at the reception after the Candlelight Carol Service.

FAR RIGHT: David Skinner and Ben Wills have been friends since the seventh grade. They worked hard to get to the top and are glad they made it together.

A group of senior girls, most dressed in black, create a lasting memory in front of the lead-out ramp at the Junior-Senior Prom. It was a fun night for all.

The graduating senior class had many great experiences throughout their years at MDS. The class of 1993 began as the first seventh grade class in recent times. As eighth graders, the class looked forward to being across the wall in high school. Missy Raffield, who came as a freshman, said, "Everyone made me feel welcome. MDS was the place for me." "As sophomores, we felt more confident about ourselves," said Karen Hammack. The highlight of the tenth grade year was driving to school. The Junior year finally brought new privileges, as Beth Hill recalls, "We had a real free period." The best part of the year, however, was Moving Up Day. "It was our dream . . . to be SENIORS," said Joy Sams.

Senior year was a blur. "It all began when we drove into the senior parking lot the first day. The first retreat was fun, especially the flour fight. Rushing off campus for lunch and trying to make it back in thirty minutes was always a challenge. Just being Seniors was great . . . we ruled the school. Grad Nite, all night, really was a magical way to end the year. It was all over so quickly. Graduation practices and the real thing were like a dream. I can't believe it's over. This year with my friends was like a dream," concluded Matthew Brown.

TENAE WALTON: "I have made so many friends since I came to MDS and am glad that I am a part of this school."

MANDY SMITH: "My friends at school are what makes Mount de Sales so special to me."

KAREN HAMMACK: "The friends that I have made at this school are ones that will be remembered throughout college and the rest of my life. The memories we have shared will always have the ability to make me smile."

ROSEANN BRANNEN: "Many of the people that I have been to school with here I have known for years. I hope that they will always be in my life."

Tenae Walton and Erika Green share a hug and laugh that they are out of class and their poor classmates are not.

Nikita Kelley and Kris Durham relax at their picnic during Positive Attitudes Day. Since they could not go off campus for lunch, it was brought to them.

Who is Al Faulk looking at? Damien thinks it is funny, but Chris is not so sure.

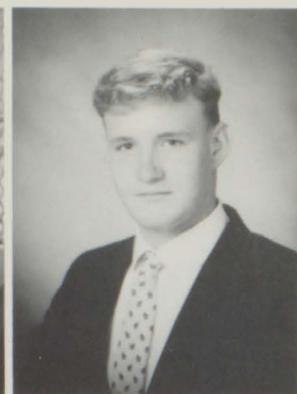

Kim Finney, Melissa Raffield, and Nicole Shiflet are happy that they have completed their last day of foreign relations, but they will miss having class together.

Hanz Cabasares doesn't look too happy about being put in a head-lock by Wendi Long on the bus.

These seniors look very excited. What did they do? Mark Bieker, Jennifer Joyner, and Mark Devenne have just finished a ride through the tunnels of Space Mountain.

A trip to Orlando and back in two days? Yes, the seniors took a bus ride to Florida for a night they will never forget. It began at ten o'clock on the Saturday morning before their last week of school. Joy Sams commented, "The bus was crowded, but we tried to get comfortable." Movies, card games, and sleep were their only entertainment.

Soon it was time for supper, a feast truly fit for a king. A cheering match started an evening of high spirits. Wynches and lords served the meal, as sword swallowers and magicians performed their tricks. Next, it was time to head to the Magic Kingdom. Live bands and rides made for a very fun night. It was truly a happy time, except for a few students who were stuck in a land of nightmarish happiness — "It's A Small World" scarred the minds of some seniors for life. Soon, however, five o'clock arrived and it was time to return home.

BACCALAUREATE

Laura Nackashi, Nicole Shiflet, Melissa Raffield, Karen Hammack, Kim Finney and Jennifer Smith smile as they recall Father Cuddy's "Amen" story and anticipate graduation.

The traditional Baccalaureate Mass, held at St. Joseph's Church, was an extremely moving ceremony for all those involved — especially for the seniors and their parents. It was a solemn occasion which gave the near graduates a chance to offer thanks for a wonderful senior year, and it also caused many to realize that this chapter of their lives was drawing to a close. The participation of seniors in the readings, petitions, singing, and gift-bearing made the service special and personal. "I enjoyed hearing Father Cuddy's "Amen" story; it was hard to believe that was the last time he would be sharing stories with us as a group," said Mark Bieker. The closeness that was felt that Monday night, May twenty-fourth, will not quickly be forgotten, even though many new experiences — exciting and sad — will come the way of the class of 1993. Once again Baccalaureate Mass served to bring the senior class together in body and spirit before the final event of the year.

Linda Horan, senior chorus member, leads the congregation in singing at St. Joseph's Church during the Baccalaureate Mass, which honors seniors.

Mrs. Lindsay Skinner aids her son, salutatorian David Skinner, in adjusting his medal while waiting for Baccalaureate to begin.

All that hard work paid off! Rhonda Howard is thrilled to be receiving her congratulatory handshake from Sister Rosina after getting her diploma from Bishop Lessard.

Graduation has always been a time of mixed feelings. Most seniors are happy to finally be leaving high school, yet many are sad to leave close friends. It was evident that the seniors were full of anticipation as they took pictures and laughed together prior to the ceremony. The commencement exercises began with the traditional procession of the faculty followed by members of the graduating class. After the invocation given by Reverend McDaniel, Salutatorian David Skinner invited his classmates to join him in recalling the special memories that had been made over the past four years. Soon the moment everyone had been waiting for since last May arrived. The diplomas were conferred, congratulations were offered by Sister Rosina and Bishop Lessard, and each senior finally moved his tassel, symbolizing that he was an official graduate. After receiving diplomas, the graduates listened as Valedictorian Ben Wills delivered his message on the importance of fulfilling one's potential as a unique individual. Bishop Lessard then addressed the graduates offering wisdom and advice for the future. Father Cuddy ended the ceremonies with the benediction, after which the students rose to leave as Alumni of Mount de Sales.

Excited about already having their diplomas, James Buckley and Matthew Brown clap as their fellow graduates walk across the stage and are blinded by the spotlight as they move their tassels at the City Auditorium on Tuesday night.

Science Team

The Science Team, under the guidance of Mr. Ron McLachlan, upheld its well-known winning spirit. The team competed many times against different science teams from other private schools. Their overall record is better than it has been in previous years. Of the 7 team members, none of them were novices, which is one reason for their performance. In their region competition, they won an impressive fifth place. This is better than the team has done in the past five years.

David Skinner, Ben Wills, Paul Marshall, John Murphy, Daniel Dod, Jenny Harrelson, Catherine McCarren, Carlos Pascual, and Kathleen Carrigan

Georgia Math League

Academic Bowl not only requires a knowledge of many subjects but also the ability to think fast and communicate with other team members. The Academic Bowl Team competed many times and of those competitions was successful in winning more times than it did last year. This is an improvement over their performance last year. The team members listened their moderator, Ron McLachlan, and learned many new skills. Any student who has fast reflexes and a wide array of knowledge should consider trying out for the Academic Bowl team.

Adam Siler, Ben Wills, P.J. Peterson and David Skinner take their second Georgia Math League test.

Academic Bowl

The Georgia Math League Contest is a competitive contest which is given in six different parts. The students compete individually to obtain the best score possible. Their scores are added together to get a team score. The test consists of six questions. The questions cover algebra, geometry, and trig. The school which has the highest score after all six testings receives a plaque. The student that has the best score also receives a plaque to recognize his or her achievement.

Social Activities Committee

This year's Social Activities Committee worked hard to make our Mount de Sales dances memorable. This year the Social Activities Committee tried something new. At the Christmas dance the students had an opportunity to rent tables. There was also a band this year. As usual the group made date walls for the Christmas dance and the annual Homecoming dance.

Key Club

The Mount de Sales Key Club had a very busy year. The members worked at Mulberry Outreach, adopt-a-spots, and car washes to raise money for the Macon Sheriffs Department Boy's Ranch, and, in January, sponsored a clothes drive. Most Mount de Sales' students recognized the Key Club by their doughnut sales on Friday mornings. Key Club members not only worked hard all year, but they also had fun through volleyball tournaments and basketball games.

Spirit Support Group

Mount de Sales' spirit not only shines through at athletic events but also at school. The Spirit Support Group met regularly on Monday's to make spirit banners and buttons to show the students' support for all of the athletic teams. This year they joined the cheerleaders in selling Homecoming and Basketball victory ribbons and pom-poms.

Student Council

Student Council was a new experiment in democracy, as it underwent a change in format. The senior and junior classes elected ten members, while the sophomore and freshmen classes had four. The council sponsored a Fruit Sale and Magazine Drive to raise money for the Athletic and Literary Association. The council was active in organizing Homecoming Week, choosing the theme and planning out the activities. The council also upheld their obligations to the community through food drives, the Tag-A-Toy project, and a blood drive.

Student Council Officers

Without the dedication and hard work of the Student Council officers, the council could not exist. The officers devote hours to planning the weekly council meetings. They are in charge of activities sponsored by the council. In addition, each officer headed committees that address certain issues to administration. The officers are a source of leadership to the student body and a great asset to our school.

Kevin McTier, Karen Hammack, Chad McDaniel, and Rick Sizemore

Student Recruitment Team

The Mount de Sales Student Recruitment Team plays an important role in seeking out prospective students. The team hosted two "Open Houses," one in the fall and another in the spring. On these days, Mount de Sales hopefuls were led around our campus by members. The team was also responsible for producing a video that introduces students to the Mount de Sales experience. The Team is an important factor in the growth of Mount de Sales.

Uptown-Downtown Pottery

Several Mount de Sales pottery students created work for sale at the annual Mount de Sales Uptown-Downtown Bazaar. The bazaar was held on November 14, 1992. The following students donated their time and talents for the bazaar: Nicole Shiflet, Trey Gavin, Timmy Oller, and Kevin McTier. The bazaar was a success, and much credit is due to these students!

"Art For Your Office"

The Mount de Sales art classes took on a new project, "Art for your Office." The first recipient of the "Art for your Office" program was the O'Neal, Brown, and Sizemore law office, which displayed artwork throughout September. This program allowed students to share their creativity with the entire Macon area and was an enormous success.

MDS Art Students Recognized

Literary Magazine

The literary magazine staff has the task of choosing from student writers and artists to compile a yearly magazine. This composite captures the best and brightest of minds. The contents consist of sketches, stories, opinion pieces, essays, and poetry. Through this magazine all students have an opportunity to share with the school.

Yearbook Staff

After a devastating year of deadlines, the yearbook is finally in print. The purpose of the Salesian staff is to sum up the year through a variety of copy and candids. These hard workers gave much of their time and themselves to make sure that everyone enjoys the Mount de Sales year in review.

Newspaper Staff

The news of the world is brought to the student body through the DeSales Despatch. Without the newspaper, students would never learn other students' ideas, and concerns. The paper deals with ideas about society and the students life in it, and keeps the MDS community up to date on the world crises, along with school events and activities. This group of journalists makes each story important to the reader. Students can expect the DeSales Despatch to continue its exceptional work.

Chorus

The Mount de Sales Chorus had a very busy year. They started by singing at the Mount de Sales Open House. The Chorus received a superior rating at this year's Music Festival. They also went on a Christmas tour and sang at the Candlelight Carol Service and the Nazareth Home Dinner. This year several students went to Savannah for the GISA state chorus. The chorus is a fine asset to Mount de Sales.

Cavalier Ringers

During the Christmas season, the members of the Mount de Sales Cavalier Ringers were very busy. They went on the Christmas Tour with the Chorus and also performed in the annual school Christmas program and the Candlelight Carol Service. They entertained everyone with their music by many different musicians including their beautiful rendition of Silent Night.

The MDS Chorus performs at the Georgia Music Festival, where they received a superior rating from the judges.

Literary Team

The Literary Team had a successful season. The events they competed in were critical and personal essay, extemporaneous speaking, oral interpretation, spelling, and music events. Each team member placed individually at region and was allowed to continue to state level. As a whole, the team took first place in Region and was also awarded with the Region Literary Plaque. They also placed first at state. These students are a fine asset to Mount de Sales.

One-Act Play

This year a group of MDS students competed in the annual One-Act Play competition. The cast performed scenes from the plays Glimpses and Talking With . . .. In the region competition the cast performed exceptionally well, placing first. Sarah Austin was also honored at Region, receiving the best actress award. So much can be expected from this young group of actors and actresses in the years to come. Mount de Sales is proud of their accomplishments.

Spring Musical

In May a group of MDS students put on a spring musical. This was an extremely unique performance. The cast performed a collection of high-energy acting, dancing, and singing. The cast was not only comprised of students, but also five faculty members. In all, the musical was a success and hopefully Mount de Sales can expect more from this talented group.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club is made up of students from Spanish II-IV. The Club organizes many activities for the members so that they may become involved in the club. There is no special requirement to join the Spanish Club; You just have to have an interest in the Spanish language and culture.

Foreign Language Competitive Exam

The French and Spanish exams are tests given to students at all levels who have an average of higher than a 90. The purpose of the test is to see how much students know about their respective languages and how much knowledge they have retained from previous years.

French and Spanish Oratorical Contest

The French and Spanish Oratorical Contest is a contest held at Georgia Southern University. The participants are selected by the teachers and are required to memorize two poems in their language and recite them before judges. They are judged on accuracy and pronunciation.

National Honor Society

Over the years, several Mount de Sales students have had the privilege of being inducted into the Our Lady of Mercy Chapter of the National Honor Society. This year there were forty-eight members in the society. To be considered for induction, a student must have an overall average of 90 and must be recommended by a teacher. He or she then must be considered on the basis of the following: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The National Honor Society promotes the well-rounded student. Mount de Sales is proud of the many deserving members.

French Honor Society

This year Christy Sinksen and David Skinner, the co-presidents and only members of the French Honor Society, were joined by four inductees. These students were chosen because they had the requirements which include at least a second year of French, an average of 95 per quarter, and a cumulative average of 85. A candidate must have a French teacher's recommendation and the ability to maintain a good class standing. They are then honored at the end of the year.

Rachel Jones, a Spanish Honor Society inductee, and her father talk with Miss Amos at the reception.

Spanish Honor Society

This year ten new members were inducted into the Spanish Honor Society. The requirements needed for induction are similar to those of the French Honor Society. The inductees participated in a ceremony held in the library on May 20. The entire ceremony was spoken in Spanish, and the members recited the pledge of the Spanish Honor Society upon induction. They were greatly rewarded for all of their years of hard work and dedication to the Spanish language.

Debate

Debate is a competition of vocal abilities. Anyone can join the team and, in doing so, gain many skills. A topic is chosen in the spring of the previous year and the teams argue that topic. A two person team argues in favor of the topic, and another team argues against it. Each person gives a constructive speech and a rebuttal. This year's team won Region and placed third in State. In the Region, David Skinner and Laura Nackashi received speaker awards.

Model UN

Model UN is composed of all of the students in the foreign relations class. It addresses strategic ideas of conflict resolutions. The only requirement to compete is to have a vast knowledge of current events. The purpose of this activity is to challenge students to think of ways to resolve today's problems. This year there were 16 members who worked hard to settle modern conflicts; they competed with other students from Central High School and other schools in the Macon area. The hope is that one day, students who will be leaders will take the skills that they learn and help the world.

Assistants

Some Mount de Sales students volunteer their free time to help in the library and the guidance office. Those students who volunteer in the guidance office help by answering the phone, running errands, and helping students find information. The library assistants help with checking out books, shelving, and locating specific reference materials. The people who volunteer their time for these positions are greatly appreciated.

Describing this year's junior class is difficult. Unique, competitive, and diverse are several words that come to mind. As this year began, the junior class assembled with ambition and excitement. Along the way, they developed friendships and came to accept each other as individuals and as a class. When discussing their class, the students expressed admiration for their peers as well as their teachers. For students that have known each other for over three years, this junior class discovered many new qualities about themselves and each other that no one knew they had.

This year's sophomore class? Well, there is a huge amount of talent in this class, and many have earned various awards and represented Mount de Sales and the sophomore class tremendously. If only there was a way to get everyone together to participate and show some school spirit, the sophomore class could be the most outstanding class in the world. Mrs. Dermatas commented, "The sophomores have the best personalities and are very likely to succeed in the future." Christy Price commented on her class, "One day soon, the balloon will burst, and nobody will even recognize this class!"

"I'm in high school?" David Dod asks. The class of 1996 arrived in the fall ready to face a new and totally different experience. A common ground was formed as, together, the class endured the triumphs and hardships of being freshmen. "I feel a lot better knowing that I'll get picked on every day," claims Frank Mummert. Stephen Lankford also shares a secret that helps the class of 1996 make it through the year. "Although many don't know it, freshmen are the seed of high school. The seniors wouldn't even be here if it weren't for us." Even though this class is far from being seniors, they have seemed to find a similarity in their status'. As Scott Werkmeister chidingly remarked, "We had the same privileges as the seniors for a month.(Ha!Ha!)"

For its second year in existence, the middle school student council is running strong. The students participate in many activities ranging from charity fund raisers to seasonal parties. The bake sale, for example, was a great success and both Sister Geraldyne and the students can be congratulated for their efforts. The members combine their talents to make their student council the best it can be. "[Middle school student council] is a way for the students to come together as one and to communicate," claimed member Brooke Benford. "[Student council] was a wonderful experience and it helped me learn to work with my peers," said Carrie Pierce.

For the third year in a row, Grandparent's Day has been a big event on the middle school calendar. "Grandparent's Day was a good way to become closer to my grandparents. It was a great experience and I'm glad I was in it," claimed Cristy Toole. This year a choral ensemble was formed to perform a musical selection entitled "American Pop". Although Grandparent's Day is strictly for the eighth grade, the seventh graders were allowed to watch their fellow classmate perform. Unfortunately, they had to go back to class after the presentation was over. The eighth graders, on the other hand, had the opportunity to show their grandparents and other loved ones around the beautiful campus. Afterwards, they treated their guests to cookies and drinks which they prepared themselves. "It was hard work, but we pulled it together and the grandparents enjoyed it," said Danielle Faulk.

GO HOG WILD!

Pig Day, a special day filled with many interesting facts, stories, and activities about pigs, was quite an experience for the seventh graders this year. On April 1, students wore pink to show their awareness of those cute little animals that everyone loves. The "creative refreshments" included ginger pigs, pig "tail" mix, and pink lemonade. Most of all, the students were allowed to be creative and use their imaginations in creating their refreshments as well as creating their own types of writings. One such creative writing activity the students participated in was formulating a "pigmerick", a nonsense poem about pigs. Pig Day has only been a part of the middle school's calendar for two years. One middle schooler, Carrie Pierce, said, "Pig Day is really neat. I've never thought so much about pigs in all my life." The advisor, Mrs. Lynn Hutto, said, "I organized this activity, basically, to promote language arts." Mrs. Hutto said that they also created a "wall" of fame. She said that the students hung all sorts of pictures of pigs on this wall that they had either drawn or painted. Pig Day is a very unique event that incorporates each student's creativity to make it memorable.

The middle school celebrates the farm's most sacred animal, the pig.

Another Winning Season

The 1992 Cavalier soccer team continued its established winning tradition in a hunt for a second state title. With only five players graduating from last year's state championship team, there was an abundance of talent returning for the '92 season. The team's biggest loss was at goal keeper, but eighth grader Will Sheehan stepped up to the challenge and handled it beautifully. There was also a loss on the offensive attack, but there were enough experienced back-ups to fill the positions. Senior Abel Torres remarked about this year's team, "I believe we were the best this year and our luscious record proves it." The team defeated the likes of Tattnall, FPD, Stratford, Frederica, as well as a team from South Carolina. The team's only regular season loss came early in the season against Westminster.

The Cavaliers beat Stratford for another region title and headed into the state tournament with a lot of momentum. They beat Frederica to go on to the championship game, a rematch with Stratford. MDS lost a hard fought game in sudden death after a scoreless double-overtime. Coach Dunaway commented on the season, "Although we fell a little short of our goal of a state championship this year, the team enjoyed great success and Mount de Sales continues to be the top soccer program in the GISA." Senior Myke Epps stressed the same point, "Although we didn't repeat as champs, we still made a good showing and got some respect for the soccer program." Many talented players will graduate this year but as Abel Torres concluded, "I'm sure next year's team will do just as well."

The MDS soccer team marches onto the field for the first game of the state playoffs.

An Uphill Battle

The 1992 Cavalier Football team didn't have an ideal record, but wins and losses can't tell the whole story. This was another rebuilding year, as the team returned only 3 starters on defense from last year: Kevin McTier, Todd Freeman, and Dean Howell. There were however, enough experienced players from last year to fill the vacant spots. From the beginning many considered the MDS offense to be its most solid aspect for 1992. The Cavaliers returned 8 starters from last year: Kevin Simmons, Mark Devenney, David Tyre, Bill Hatcher, and Damien Wilkenson. The running game was strong with both Brian DeMichiel and Todd Freeman returning. Dean Howell also returned as one of the starting receivers. When looking back on this team, Brian DeMichiel remarked, "I felt that we had a lot of talent that was willing and ready to play." The team began practicing on August 3 for their first game against Stratford. The Cavs got their first victory in the first region game against Monroe. The game was a tough defensive battle but MDS came out on top 7-6. The Cavaliers also made a strong showing during the Homecoming game against George Walton, a new team to the region. Though MDS was outsized by George Walton, the Cavaliers relied on their speed to lead them to a 21-6 victory. Senior Kevin McTier remembered, "After Homecoming, we all shared high hopes to win region." The Cavs finished the season second in the region, and for the third straight year played in the state playoffs.

Building Our Future

The junior varsity football team, which had a lot of raw talent, has had another successful season. They started off with a solid win over FPD. As Dameron Davis put it, "The FPD victory was the highlight of an overall good season." The team practiced and played hard but came up short in the following game against Stratford. They kicked it back into the groove, winning games against Westfield and Monroe. Although the players did not have as many wins as they probably would have liked, they did get a lot of experience for future years on the varsity team. Cody Hale said of the season, "We had fun, but we learned a lot, too." The junior varsity Cavs' impressive season shows that they've got what it takes to be a strong and successful varsity team in the future.

The junior varsity softball team had one of its strongest seasons in the past few years. The team never let up throughout the entire season. When asked what the strongest aspect of the team was, Carrie Pierce replied, "Teamwork . . . definitely teamwork." The team, coached by Lynn Hatcher and Ted Shipp, finished the season with a 14-0 record, beating the likes of Tattnall, Stratford, FPD, and Monroe. Coach Hatcher commented on the team, "We were strong offensively and defensively to have such a young team." Showing impressive maturity, the young Lady Cavs allowed an average of only 1.8 runs a game while scoring an average of 10 a game. Danielle Faulk summed up the season when she said, "I couldn't have asked for a better first season on the team."

Reaching For The Top

The 1992 Cavalier softball team began the season with a solid defense and strong offense. With only 4 seniors graduating from last year's team, the girls had visions of region and maybe a state title. April Goodman commented on the team, "We had a really strong team and a great year." The Lady Cavs worked hard in the preseason preparing for their first game. Although they lost in the opener to Windsor, they rebounded to take two games from Monroe and FPD and to split a double-header with Stratford. As the season wore on, the girls would continue on their winning ways by sweeping Stratford and Terrell and splitting double-headers with Westfield, Tattnall, and George Walton. From there the girls were fired up and ready for the region tournament and ready to get into the title hunt. They did a spectacular job and came away from the tournament as the region champs. "Beating Tattnall to win region was a really good feeling," remembered April. Then it was on to the state tournament in Tifton. In the first game against Stratford, the girls rallied from a 8-0 deficit but came up short in the end and lost 12-10. In their next game, it was a tough defensive battle against Southland, and the Lady Cavs couldn't come up with the run they needed to win. At the end of the season, April Fowler summed it up when she said, "I think it has been a great season this year; I had a lot of fun and made some really great friends."

Back to Back

This year's Varsity boys basketball team did something that hadn't been done in the GISA since 1976: win back-to-back state titles. They did it with a balanced offensive attack and a solid defense. "I feel that this year's team was successful because we were able to combine all our individual talents and put out a great team effort every time we stepped on the court," remarked senior Myke Epps. This year's team had a solid core of experienced seniors who showed their leadership abilities throughout the season. Justin Joines remembered, "I feel that the one thing that made the team unique is the feeling of possession we had for the team, finally it was 'our' team." The guys opened the season with convincing wins over Stratford and FPD. After losses to Stratford and Westfield early on, the team rebounded and focused on the rest of the season and the tournaments to come. Region tournament rolled around and MDS found themselves in the championship game against Monroe, but came up short in the end. The State tournament went as everyone hoped, with the only close game coming in the semi-finals against the then undefeated Westwood. The championship game had MDS leading the whole way, both on the scoreboard and in the stands. A sound ten point thumping of Stratford gave the Cavaliers their long-awaited second State Championship. Sam Jolley talked about the season as a whole, "I feel everyone was dedicated to the team this year. We all wanted the state title bad and we knew if we gave it our all, no one could stop us."

How'd he do that? This player would rather pose than try to play defense on Sam Jolley.

Attaining our Goals

This year's Varsity girls basketball team was a much improved group over the teams of past years. Under new head coach Lynn Hatcher they came into the year with the determination and strength to improve on last year's record, and they worked hard in the off-season attending the Stratford and UGA team camps. The team had 3 goals: win as many games as they lost, improve on ball handling skills, and play in the Region and State tournaments. Although they didn't achieve the first, they did accomplish the other two. They finished the year with a 12-15 record with most losses by 5 points or less, and many games had to go into overtime. "We were in a lot of close games which really built character, and towards the end of the season we started winning the games," remarked Leslie Weston. The 6 seniors on the team took over the leadership role and helped to improve the team as a whole. Senior Christa Timms commented, "This year we played as a team and really worked well together". Although the team lost their first game against Stratford, they came home and soundly defeated Southland, and when the second half of the season rolled around, they were turning those overtime games into Cavalier victories. In the Region tournament, the lady Cavaliers won the opening game against Westfield and secured themselves a place in the State tournament. They came up short against Monroe, but defeated George Walton in the consolation game for third place. Despite the fact that they lost to Windsor in the opening round, the girls played well and gave it their all, achieving their last goal.

Working for Tomorrow

The 92-'93' B-team Boys Basketball season consisted of close, yet hard-fought, losses and impressive victories. They opened their season up with wins over Southland and FPD. During the middle of the season, the team hit a dry spell but practiced hard and fine-tuned their game to win two of their last three. "I think that we worked hard all season, but things didn't go our way some of the time. Still, we had fun doing it," commented Jason Balkcom. Cory Dockrell also added, "This year was a good learning experience. We had some highs and lows, and I think we'll be better down the road because of it." These boys are the future MDS varsity team, and we look forward to seeing great things out of them.

They lost a few games in the middle of the season but had impressive victories over their other opponents. At its close they came on strong, winning their last three games. When asked about the season as a whole, Coach Lynn Hatcher remarked, "These girls improved throughout the season and it showed on the court. They were very competitive with their opponents." Danielle Cooper added, "I think we had a good season. We had a few upsets, but the games we won really made up for it."

The 1992-93 8th grade boys team knew they had tough season ahead of them, but they never let that stop them. The team practiced hard in the pre-season under coach Paul Midkiff. The guys worked on the basic basketball skills and got in shape for the upcoming games. They lost their opening game to cross-town rival Stratford, but they came back in the next game to defeat Monroe. From there the team would go on to lose games to Windsor and Tattnall, then turn around and take games from Sacred Heart and Monroe. The Cavaliers ended the season with a 5-8 record, including a loss to FPD in the C-team tournament and a win in the consolation game afterward.

The team was made up of 7th graders from MDS, St. Joseph's, and St. Peter Claver. This was a hard working team and Coach Parker commented on how they worked, "The team learned what it takes to win. Hustle was never a problem". The boys showed what it took to be a team and played to the best of their abilities throughout the season. These factors helped the boys earn second place in the C-team tournament at the end of the season. These young men are learning the skills they'll need to lead Mount de Sales into the future.

Winning when it counts

The C-team girls basketball team had quite an exciting season. They won significantly over Monroe and Windsor at the opening. Their close win over Stratford in the middle of the season proved that teamwork and determination are often the key to success. The girls came up a little short in the next games against Westfield and FPD, but kicked back into action and won the final game of the season against FPD with flying colors. They finished up with a successful 5-4 record. Amy Brannen commented, "I think the year was a big success because we learned a lot about sportsmanship and how to get along with your teammates." Miss Amos agreed, also adding, "The basketball experience was exciting, but the growing we all did together mattered most. Because of our unity, we're walking away with much more than merely knowledge about basketball."

The 1992-93 C-team Girls Cheerleading Squad consisted of 7th and 8th grade girls from Mount de Sales. They had tryouts late in the fall to choose a squad for the upcoming C-team basketball season. Once the team was chosen, they got a lot of instruction from the varsity girls, learning new cheers and routines. The girls attended all the games, sometimes cheering for as many as three games in a row. However, cheering was not their only responsibility. They also had to make banners and buttons for the players and fans. "It's a great group of girls. They showed a lot of spirit when they supported the Cavaliers," remarked Mrs. Dadisman, the C-team moderator.

Pump, Pump, Pump It Up

This year's B-team Cheerleading Squad added a lot of school spirit to the JV Football and B-team Basketball games. Although they went through many changes, with some girls moving up to the varsity squad and others being added to B-team, they worked hard and cheered their Cavaliers to victory. Nettie Pierce and Sarah Hope commented, "We lost a lot of people, but we made it through the season. It was hard to get school spirit going, but at the end, everyone cooperated." The cheerleaders led the way in supporting all the teams. "I was impressed by the girls' talent and enthusiasm. They worked exceptionally hard," stated Mrs. Peery, the squad's moderator. All in all, they had a great year and will continue to keep the spirit pumped up.

"At camp, the girls worked hard, and the team came away with a lot of awards," remarked Brandy Ciaccia. By the time school started in August, the girls were already well into their season. They could now start cheering for the football, soccer and basketball seasons. In fact, they cheered the boys basketball team all the way to the state championship. # Diamond In The Rough

This year's Varsity Baseball Team suffered some rough losses during the 1993 season, but stuck together and learned much. One element that contributed to their hardships this year was the lack of leadership. The team had only three seniors to provide this needed leadership. Another factor they lacked was experience. This team was a young one, but they worked hard to the best of their abilities. The Cavaliers' season began on a rough note when they lost each of their first four games. However, they came back fighting, winning their fifth game, defeating Piedmont by a score of 13 to 6. Their next game proved to be an exciting one when they edged FPD, last year's state champs, by one run. Throughout the remainder of the season, the Cavaliers proved successful in only three of their last eleven tries. They managed, however, to win over FPD in another one-run game to end their regular season play. Then it was time for the state playoffs. Mount de Sales entered the first round, playing FPD at their field. First Presbyterian indeed had the home field advantage, as they defeated MDS 5 to 1. The Cavaliers ended their year with a 5-12 record. "Baseball was a lot of fun. The team functioned as a team and delivered what was expected," commented first baseman John Carey. Without a doubt, everyone worked hard, especially when they were moved to unfamiliar positions. Due to the amount of young talent on the team, the Cavs can look to the future with optimism. Coach Chester Pierce added, "Our team was young and inexperienced, and even though we took a lot of lumps this season, the experience gained this year will make us a lot tougher in 1994."

Swinging For The Future

Learning is the key focus of a JV baseball team, and that's just what these young Mount de Sales Cavaliers centered their attention on during this year's season. Most of the team consisted of new players, which meant that they also made new friends while learning the game of baseball. They improved throughout the year and showed qualities that will make them well-rounded varsity players in the future. Despite their 0-10 record, they played hard and adapted new skills which will help them over the course of time. "Even though we lost all of our games, we at least had fun!", remarked Corey Rouse. In addition, most of them will continue to gain valuable experience and improve their skills by playing in the various local recreation leagues.

The 1993 golf team, led by Jeremy Thomas and Trey Gavin, had one of its strongest finishes in the past few years. They finished second in the region, missing first by one stroke, and finished fourth out of fifteen teams in state competition. The "traditional male" golf team had a new experience this year when Melissa Alverson decided to try out for the team. She was the first girl to play golf since Lynn Hatcher played for MDS. Coach Davis felt that "the record shows just how strong we were. Second in region and fourth in state is not too bad." He also thought this was a dedicated team that was willing to work very hard. With only two seniors leaving, the team looks to improve its chances for a state championship in the future.

Perfection On The Hardcourt

The Boys Tennis Team had a season that represented the success true teamwork can bring. Their early wins over FPD and Tattnall set the winning streak; they were 1st in region and 2nd in state. Good examples of the teamwork were the successful #2 doubles team consisting of Dana Cowart and Scott Achtemeier and the #1 team of Hanz Cabasares and Mark Bieker. Both teams competed in State and did extremely well. The highlight of the State Tournament was the Boys Singles Championship. Andy Wilhelm captured the 1st place title in Boys Singles, making him #1 in the state in the division. Andy Wilhelm commented on winning the championship, "It felt good to hit that last crosscourt forehand and see the guys storm the court. It was great!"

Andy Wilhelm sets up for a powerful backhand shot.

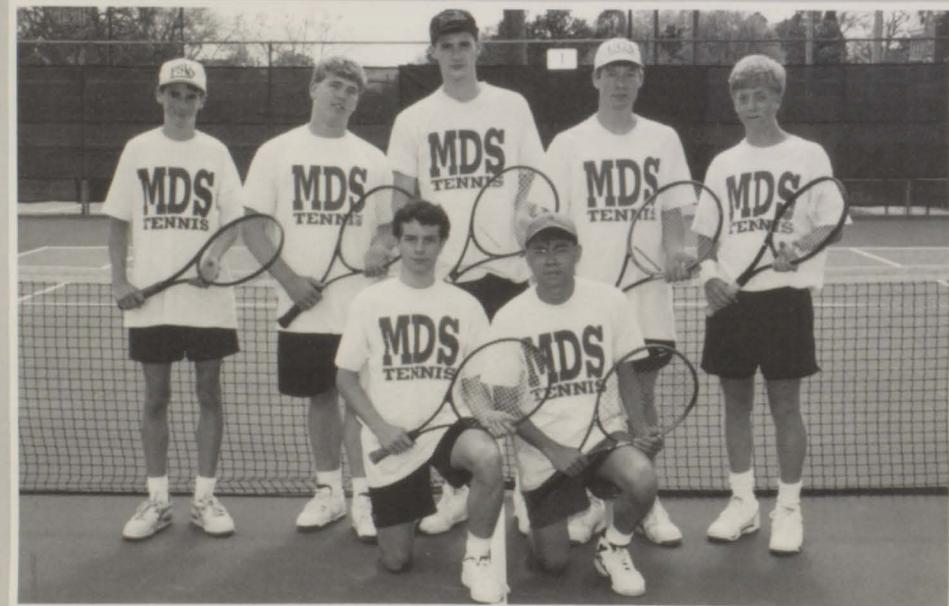

Hanz Cabasares' strong forehand sends the ball flying across the court.

Kathy Kendall races to return the ball with her powerful forehand.

This year's Girls Tennis Team had a good season, gaining valuable experience and building a strong foundation for future years. Some of the highlights of this season were placing third in region and sending a doubles team to state. Both were very good accomplishments, considering the team was fairly young. Although they didn't have as many wins as they would have liked, they were successful because they each learned what it takes to be a good tennis player. Karishma Kalli commented, "Miss Little taught us many things this season, but most importantly, she taught us to never give up because that's what helps you succeed." Miss Little added, "I'm optimistic about next year's team. With summer playing and practice, there will be more wins."

Young And Energetic

The 1993 Boys Track Team had quite an exciting season. The team consisted mostly of younger boys, many of whom lacked experience. But with the wins they had throughout the season, they gained confidence and success. In Region, they placed 3rd. Chad McDaniel was 1st in the 2 mile, setting a new Region record. He also placed 2nd in the 1 mile. Kariem Jones placed 2nd in the 100 yards and also in the 220 yards. The team went on to place 10th in State, where Chad McDaniel placed 1st in the 3200 meters. Overall, they had great wins and built a good base for future victories. Jose Blanco commented, "This year's track season was a learning experience. With so many competitive underclassmen, we can be sure of a better turn out next year."

The success of the 1993 Girls Track Team reflected the great talent of each of the girls. This could be seen early, with a 1st at Windsor and a tie for 1st at Tattnall. They placed 2nd in Region, scoring 100 points. Some of the girls who did well were Katy Becker, 1st in the high jump; Shana Alverson, 1st in the 110 hurdles; and Michelle Thomas, 1st 2 years in a row in shot put. These victories also helped them place 5th out of 17 teams in the State Tournament, where Michelle Thomas placed 1st in shot put, and Vickie Greene placed 2nd. Melissa Posner commented, "This year we had a great team. All the girls got along for the most part." Coach Lynn Hatcher added, "This was an extremely hard-working group of young ladies."

New Faces on Campus

Though we love all the teachers at Mount de Sales dearly, these elite few have captured a special place in our minds with their unique personalities, senses of humor, and sayings. Who could ever forget Mr. McLachlan's wisecracks or his dry jokes in the Chemistry text? And only Mrs. Weston would start a campaign to get everyone in the sophomore class a date for the Homecoming dance! Does anyone ever know what time Mr. Dunaway will arrive at school — 9:00, 10:00, maybe lunchtime? Where did Miss Little get her saying "Number Next"?

Congratulations to all these teachers and thanks for your invaluable help and friendship.

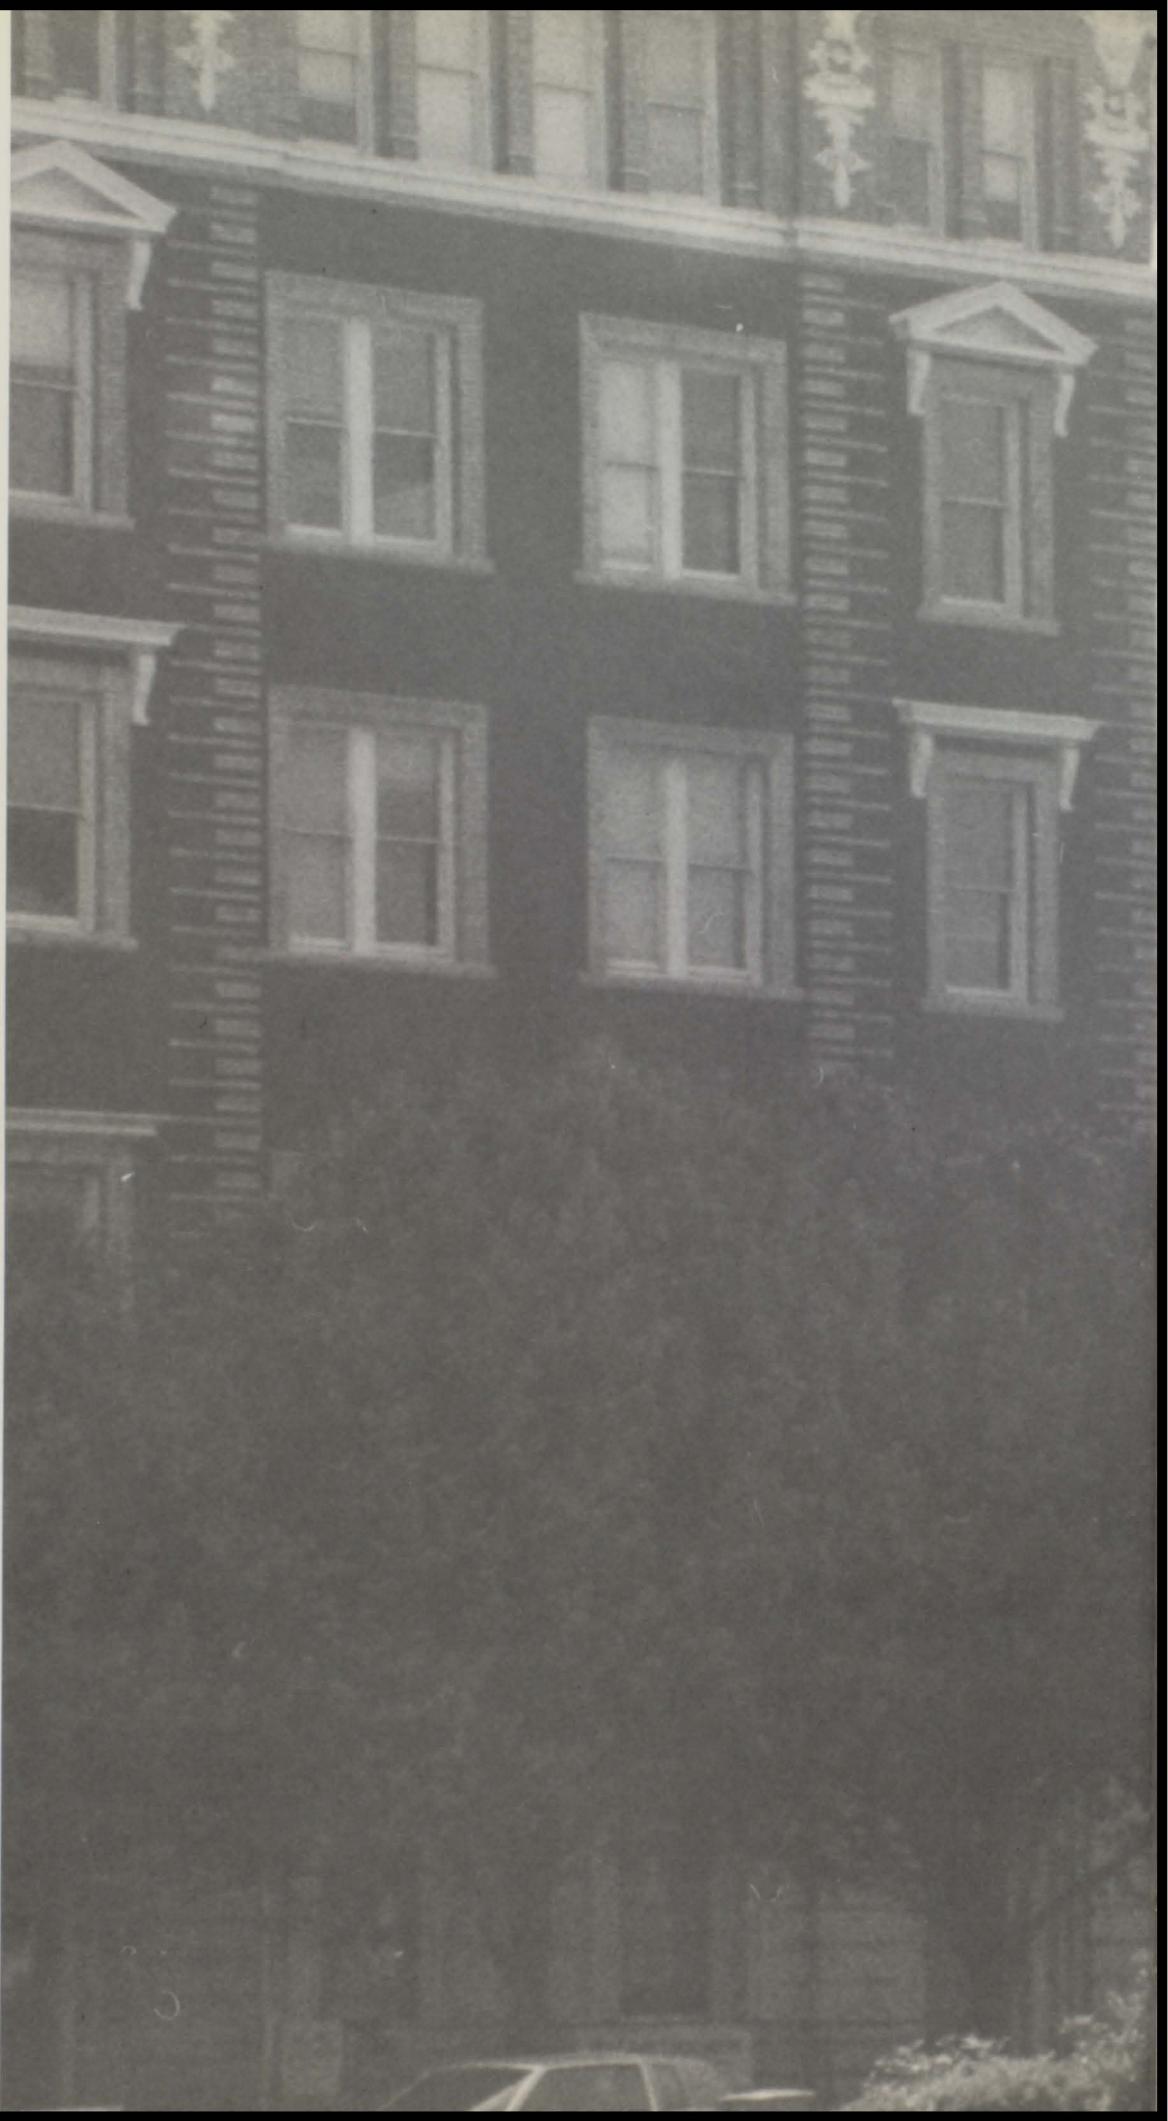

There are four new faces in the Mount de Sales family: Michael Dunaway, Ashley Amos, Emily Dermatas, and Nancy Allen. These new teachers have been real assets to Mt. de Sales. Mr. Dunaway, an alumni of MDS, is the English teacher of the junior class, an assistant soccer coach, and the drama director. Ms. Amos teaches Spanish I, Middle School Spanish, coaches C-team girl's basketball, and is an assistant coach for the varsity girl's basketball team. Mrs. Dermatas now teaches the biology and advanced biology classes. Mrs. Allen teaches eighth grade English. When asked how teaching has affected his view of Mt. de Sales, Mr. Dunaway said, "It was a great school then and an even better school now. GO CAVALIERS!!!"

Sr. Rosina and Betty Dohn have a pleasant chat on their way to the Lenten Reconciliation assembly.

GOOD LUCK, SENIORS!!!

Compliments of the 1992-93 Salesian Staff

The End of the Year...

"WE'RE SENIORS!" exclaim Lisa Sinksen, Nikki Shih, and Jenny Harrelson after Moving-Up Day.

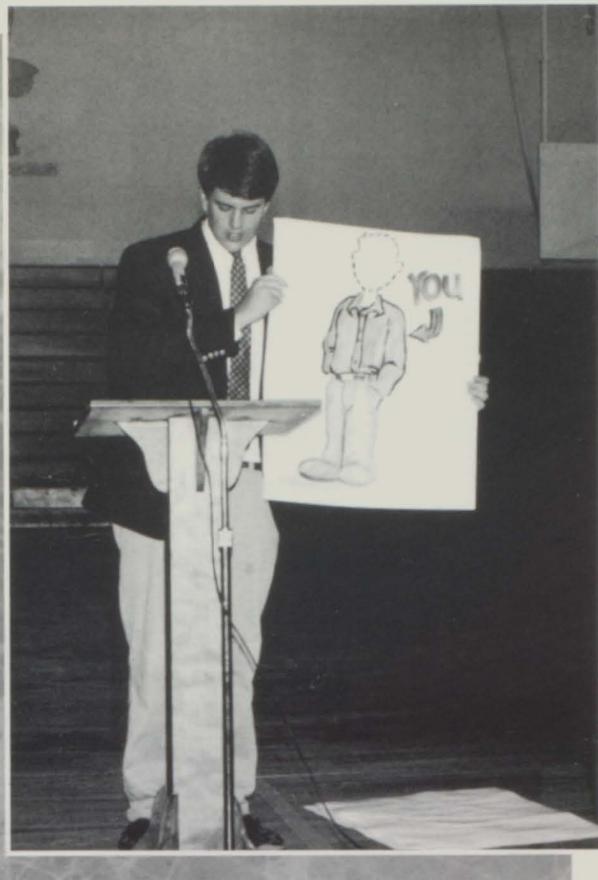

Hey Coach Fester--exactly how DID you get that lightbulb to light up?!?

The Spanish Club celebrated its last meeting with a Mariachi band.

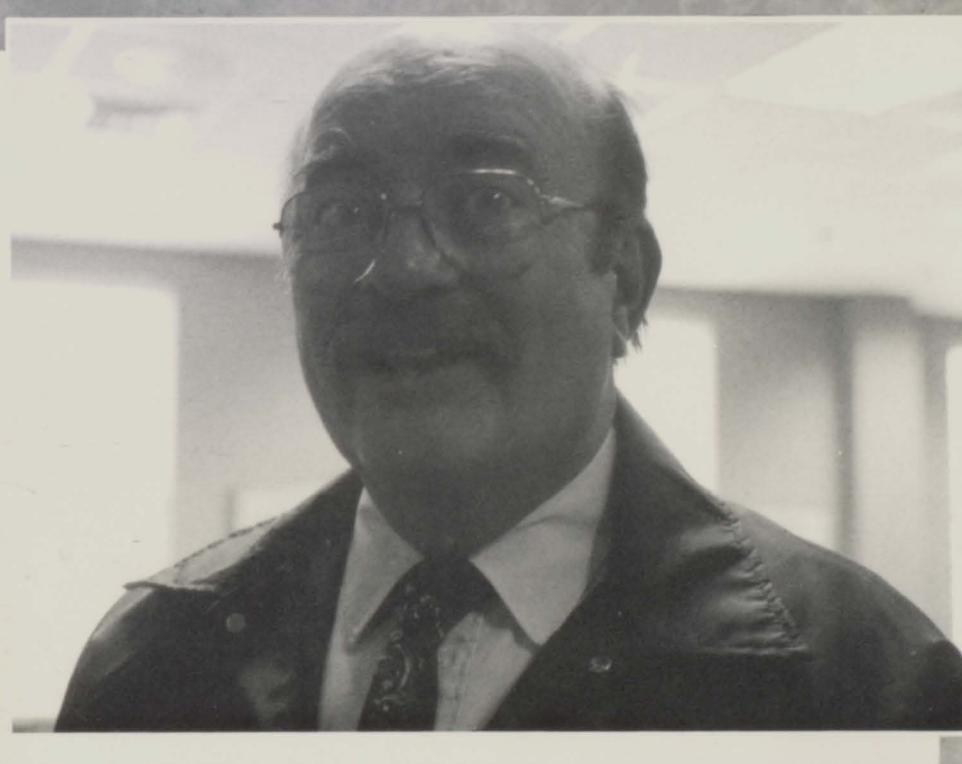

Coach Vince Dooley, recipient of the McAuley Award, shares his vast experiences with our students.

"That doesn't look anything like me!"
David Tyre "illustrates" his artistic ability during his Student Council campaign.

Obviously happy that the year is over,
Melanie Union makes a quick pose before running home.

Seniors. David Skinner thinks that just because he graduated he can get away with ANYTHING!

Mr. Mermann just saw all the doughnuts on the table on the morning of Teacher Appreciation Day.

The adviser of the Salesian is Miss Mary Margaret Little. All headlines, captions, body copy, and folio tabs were set in Benguiat Book type, with the exception of the Opening, Divider, and Closing pages. These pages were prepared on a Macintosh Classic II computer with Yeartech. Jostens of Clarksville, Tennessee printed 560 copies of 184 pages each. The company representative is Mr. David Zeigler.

There is a method to this mess!

Can it be? A SMILE?!? Well, we all know Miss Little definitely isn't working on the yearbook today. Maybe she's out (gasp) SOCIALIZING!

Hey look--magic! Ben Wills shows what really goes on during those late-night-early-morning yearbook meetings.
